MISS META HOGAN AND FRED TURCK ARE MARRIED

Large Reception and Dinner Follows Wedding Service Amid Spring Blooms

A very pretty home wedding took place at 814 Orange Grove avenue last night, Wednesday, May 17, 1922, at 7:30 o'clock, when Miss Meta Livingston Hogan, only daughter of Mrs. Anna Hogan of Schenectady, N. Y., became the bride of Fred J. Turck. Rev. E. E. Ford of the First Baptist church officiated at the wedding, the single ring service being used.

Preceding the ceremony, which took place underneath an arch of orange blossoms between the living room and dining room, and also as the bridal party took its place, Mrs. J. J. Niles, formerly of Schenectady, N. Y., and now of Pasadena, played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" (Wagner).

The bride wore a charming simple wedding gown of white silk canton crepe, edged with silk fringe and beads, a white silk tulle veil caught with real orange blossoms, white satin slippers with jeweled clasps and carried a beautiful bouquet of dark red American Beauty roses and white baby breath, tied with white silk tulle. Miss Gladys Weber of Los Angeles, formerly of Schenectady was the bridesmaid. She was gowned in peach colored organdy and carried a bouquet of white carnations and baby breath. C. L. Edwards of Glendale was the best man. Mrs. Anna M. Hogan, mother of the bride, wore a gown of blue vamp chiffon trimmed with georgette.

Reception and Dinner

The wedding was followed by a reception and sumptuous dinner, including a wedding cake, roast turkey and other good things.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Mason, Mrs. Weber and Miss Gladys Weber of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Clark of Ocean Park Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sour of Tujunga; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Niles of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. L. Richards, Miss Margaret Morgan, Mrs. Montague, Mrs. Edith Dubary, Mr. and Mrs. W. Paull, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Campbell, and Mrs. Anna Hogan.

Mrs. Hogan and daughter arrived in Glendale yesterday from Schenectady, also the former home city of Mr. Turck, who has been in Glendale since September. The bride-to-be found awaiting her arrival in Glendale a completely furnished bungalow, ready to move into, at 814 Orange Grove avenue, including a piano, the wedding gift from the bridegroom to the bride.

Mr. Turck plans to engage in business some time in the near future. He was the organizer of the Master Plumbers' Association in Glendale in January. Since that time a Woman's Auxiliary has been formed, and the local association is considered one of the best organized in the state, all but three plumbers in this city belonging to that organization.

GLENDALE MEN ESCAPE FROM RIPLEY AS BIG FLOOD COMES

Eye-Witnesses Give Graphic Account of Sudden Burst of Water Into Town; All of Business Section Covered; Loss Heavy

H. S. Burn and J. B. Burn of Doner, Hemenway & Burn's real estate agency, 110 South Brand boulevard, were members of a party which escaped from the little desert town of Ripley Saturday night just before communication with the outside world was cut off by the Colorado river floods.

Today they gave The Glendale Evening News an eye-witness account of the rushing water inundating the new city, including the $200,000 Hotel Ripley and the California Southern railway station.

According to dispatches reaching the International News Service leased wire from San Bernardino, hundreds of men are toiling today along the broken levees of the Colorado to repair the gap in the dike and to return the roaring torrent to its original channel.

May Cut Town in Two

Unless this restoration can be accomplished, the town of Ripley will be sliced in half permanently by the new channel, ten miles long, which the river cut through the village when it leaped its banks last Saturday. A feature of the river's shift was that it threw 10,000 acres of rich land of California into Arizona's territory. No estimate of the damage can be made, it is stated.

The Colorado's recent break reminds old timers of the Imperial valley floods in the pioneer days when new rivers were made and the whole county endangered. Here is the story told by the Messrs. Burn:

In company with Stuart Hacker and John Hacker of Pasadena and William Butler of Occidental college, they motored to Blythe and Ripley Friday to look over some farming lands. They accomplished their purpose Saturday morning and returned to Ripley unaware that the levee had broken at 7:30 o'clock in the morning, the water rushing back into the town.

Procession of Refugees

At 7 o'clock Saturday night they were standing in the lobby of the Ripley hotel and saw the employes carrying the costly furnishings to the second floor. Inquiry brought the answer that they were going to have a party there that night.

Soon ranchers began pouring into town with their families, plows and chickens loaded on wagons and motor parties began tearing through the city like mad. One woman began a disturbance about the flood and when the Burns, ignorant of the danger, tried to reassure her, she said:

"I have a perfectly good husband working down there on the levee and it has broke!"

Big Wall of Water

That caused them to go with a party in a big machine to see the extent of the flood. Three blocks from the hotel they encountered water and stopped. A crackling noise from an opposite direction showed that the water was sweeping into the town from the northeast as well as the south. It seemed as though a wall of water a foot high was driving across the desert straight for them. They immediately rushed back to the hotel, spread the alarm and made ready to leave town. The big car pulled out while the Burns were getting their grips and they had to hire a Ford to bring them out to Blythe.

While their driver was making ready for the dash through the mud and water which came up to the hub caps of the car, J. B. Burn and William Butler walked around the corner of the hotel and measured the rise of the water at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Business Section Flooded

It was coming in at the rate of thirty lineal feet a minute and the hotel soon had four or five inches of water.

Later arrivals from the flood swept town report four or five feet of water standing in the palatial hotel while practically all of the business district is a river bed. The main street is the main channel while the country around resembles one vast lake.

Messrs. Burn arrived in Glendale Sunday night, and report that the whole of Ripley likely is for sale.

E. F. Heisser Chosen Shrine Club President

The Glendale Shrine club met last night in the lobby of the Chamber of Commerce and elected new officers on account of President C. E. Neale's departure from Glendale. Julius Kranze, vice-president, stated that he was too busy to take the presidency and F. R. Gartley resigned as secretary, also. Dan Campbell, president of the Glendale National bank, remains in office as treasurer. E. F. Heisser of 1119 North Louise street, secretary of the Independent Lumber company, was elected president. Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson was made vice-president, and Charles F. Hahn of the realty firm of Hahn & McKenzie, 137 South Brand boulevard, was elected secretary. Robert McKenzie of the same firm was re-elected as chairman of the entertainment committee with expressions of appreciation.

First Initiation Is Held by New Order

The first initiatory work to be put on by the recently organized Glendale chapter, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, was given last night at the meeting of that organization at Masonic Temple, with Mrs. Orma V. Naudain, worthy high priestess, in charge. At that time Mrs. Mamie Brooks and Mrs. Marguerita Castillo were taken into the order. At the close of the business session refreshments were served and a social time followed.

Sheriff Traeger to Speak Before Legion

J. A. Wilson, adjutant of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, has announced that tomorrow night's regular meeting will be featured by an interesting talk by Sheriff William Traeger of Los Angeles county. Sheriff Traeger is a member of one of the Los Angeles American Legion posts. Besides the regular meeting the special "kitchen police" committee, which is headed by Gerald Delgardo, will serve "eats."

Wrong Man Leaves Glendale 'City Jail'

Robert Caulfield, La Crescenta youth held by the Glendale police on a charge of passing worthless checks, took French leave this morning from the tank at fire station No. 2 when Officer R. L. McLean went there to release a Mexican who had been given a night's lodging.

The officer wasn't sure which man was to be let out and Caulfield availed himself of the opportunity. Now police all over Southern California are looking for him.

Mrs. Cynthia P. Moss At Training School

The training school for Sunday school workers met in the regular weekly session at the Christian church last night with seventy-five present. Special speakers were Mrs. S. H. Wilcox in the beginners' division, whose subject was story telling, and Mrs. Cynthia P. Moss in the intermediate section.

Mrs. Moss also addressed the general assembly which follows the class work, on co-relation in all church work and education in the field of religion. She is a fluent speaker and has experience in her office of national worker in intermediate departmental work of the Sunday school. While her home is in St. Louis, she has spent the past year in Pomona, where she has had success in her first experimental work in correlation organization in the women's division of the church, it is stated.

Mrs. J. N. Lindgren Entertains for Son

Mrs. . N. Lindgren of 431 West Lexington drive entertained a party of boys very pleasantly Tuesday night in honor of her son, Eugene, who was celebrating his fifteenth birthday. The affair was planned as a surprise by Mrs. Lindgren, the guests first assembling at the home of Richey Jones and proceeding together to the Lindgren home. Games had been arranged for the evening's entertainment and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Invited guests were Joseph Kneiffer, Fred Fallis, Donald Leslie, Warren Rigdon, Maurice Kennedy, Richey Jones, Wendell Snyder and Raymond McCann.

Council Votes $100 to Advertise City

At the suggestion of Mayor Spencer Robinson, the city council last night voted to give, on behalf of the city of Glendale, the sum of $100 toward advertising matter being prepared by the Glendale Realty Board to boost this city at the national realty convention in San Francisco.

"I don't see why the Chamber of Commerce, to which we, as individuals, donate $25 a year, as do a lot of other people here, does not care for these advertising propositions," commented Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson. "When organization was under way we were told that the chamber was to finance all these propositions. Yet the city donates and the chamber seeks to take the credit. I hold that it is a shame that such a condition is permitted to prevail."

LEARNS BROTHER IS DEAD

William (Bud) N. Pierce has been notified of the death of his brother in St. Louis. He is now in Arkansas on account of the death of his father.

FOOLISH QUESTION NO. 71144: WHY IS JUNE BRIDE?

There Are at Least Eleven Other Months In Year, Motive, Opportunity

Why is a "June bride?"

Nobody seems to know exactly how that term has become so familiar, but a lot of people have their suspicions and opinions.

Almost every girl has hopes of being a "June bride." Yet they get married usually any old time the opportunity affords itself.

June has become a marrying month, however and nevertheless. It is to be presumed that there is something in the flowers and blossoms and debutantes that makes it so.

It may be the June "bug." Noah Webster offers no explanation, other than to define each word separately which is very unsatisfactory. June, he says, is a month with thirty days—nothing unusual about that. Bride, you will find, means a newly married woman, or one about to marry.

What They Said

So to the streets the hustling news hound hied to find out what all these Glendale merchants mean in advertising everything for the June bride. She must be something extraordinary. Therefore, these extraordinary answers to the question:

MISS JULIA MONIOT, clerk at Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company office—I do not know, but I am willing to find out.

H. L. MILLER, realty and insurance, 109 South Brand boulevard—She is a June bride because she will not wait until July.

MRS. HAZEL W. RAE, at H. M. Miller's real estate office, 114 East Broadway—I do not know why it is a June bride. I got married in December and am well satisfied. It isn't the month, it's the man. I would rather be a Christmas present than a fading flower.

CONSTABLE JOHN SCALES, of Burbank township—It is the natural mating season, I suppose. Nature is at the height of her glory then.

MRS. BLANCHE RICKERSON, of Cook's confectionery, 128 South Brand boulevard—The heat has gone to their head, if they marry in June. I waited until July.

Ah, Yes! Quite So!

ED NISLE, clothier, 135½ South Brand boulevard—A June bride provides the bridegroom for me to sell clothes to. After that she provides him someone to buy clothes for.

W. B. KIRK, Provident insurance salesman, 504 East Broadway—June is a beautiful, flowery month for the home weddings that are dear to every girl's romanticism, I would say.

MISS SARA POLLARD, of the R. L. Kent Company, 130 South Brand boulevard—I was never able to find out. I presume young people get foolish at that time of the year. Besides, roses make beautiful decorations and for three weeks in June they come into full bloom in the east and middle west.

HATLESS (E. P.) HAYWARD, of Hayward & McCartney, 142 South Brand boulevard, who is rather absent-minded today, as he is celebrating his birthday—Why a June bride? Well, let me see. I was married in June, but I don't know why!

Now, what do you think of that?

Pet Dogs, Chickens Victims of Poison

In the vicinity of the crossing of the streets at West Lexington drive and North Columbus avenue four pet dogs and a small flock of chickens have been the victims of poison within the last two weeks. Dogs belonging to Eugene Lindgren, of 431 W. Lexington drive, J. F. Hayward, of 428 West Lexington, and C. W. Houston of 430 West Myrtle street, died from what evidently was strychnine poisoning.

"Spotty," the pet of the family of A. Houston Jones of 376 West Lexington, was discovered to be suffering from the same poison and prompt attention from a veterinary saved his life. It is generally believed to be the result of attempts to poison gophers that have become so active in their destruction of lawns and trees.

Glen Eyrie Club Is Given Luncheon Party

The members of Glen Eyrie Social club, of which Mrs. Orma V. Naudain is president, were delightfully entertained at a luncheon party given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. I. J. Westphal, 4187 Van Ness avenue, Los Angeles, who was assisted by Miss Mildred Lyon and Mesdames Lamb, Beckett and Carroll as hostesses. At the short business session which followed the luncheon, arrangements were made for a progressive card party to be given June 10 at the homes of Mrs. H. A. McPherson and Mrs. J. Everson on North Central avenue for a charitable cause.

NEW OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN BY HIGH SCHOOL P.-T. A.

Mrs. W. Q. Widdows Elected President; Program for Members Is Enjoyed

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher association held at the school yesterday afternoon, with the following being chosen:

Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, president; Mrs. George U. Moyse, vice president; Miss Eva Daniels, secretary; Mrs. A. G. Bailey of Eagle Rock, treasurer; J. Rhea Baker, auditor; Mrs. L. T. Rowley, historian.

A. L. Ferguson, principal of the evening high school, told of the work being accomplished there and also the big demand which the night school had met. He stated that during the year there has been a total enrollment of 700, although this did not represent the average attendance. Among the courses offered, which included only those for which there was the greatest demand, were Spanish, both elementary and advanced; business English and arithmetic, short hand and typewriting, bookeeping and penmanship, mechanical drawing, auto shop, carpentry and woodworking, machine shop, millinery and gymnasium classes. He stated that three things especially were stressed in connection with the evening high school work:

First: No tuition fee is charged for enrollment, the only expense being for bokks and materials actually used.

Second: No examination is required for entrance and no requirement of previous schooling.

Third: The majority of classes are so arranged that students may enter at any time.

Meeting Is Opened

The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. E. B. Wyman, and opened with the salute to the flag, led by Mrs. E. B. Moore. Mrs. Blanche M. Aageson, treasurer, reported a balance on hand of $151.75, which, with a check for $27 turned in by J. Rhea Baker, auditor, made a total in the treasury of $178.75.

Mrs. W. W. Stofft, historian, gave a report of the work which had been accomplished by the organization during the year and

CROWD TO HEAR GOVERNOR SPEAK

Not One Word on Politics, Is Promise of Those Arranging Meeting

All tickets have been sold for the Glendale Chamber of Commerce forum dinner tonight at which Governor William D. Stephens, Mayor Spencer Robinson, Supervisor Henry W. Wright and Attorney Mattison B. Jones will speak. Musical numbers also have been announced while the Glen Inn will make special efforts in serving a delicious repast.

While not a word about politics is scheduled, it is a meeting featured by politicians and party lines are expected to be sharply drawn at the various tables. The members of the Old Guard of both parties were first to reserve tickets and some lively tete-a-tetes are expected to ensue.

Following the speech at the Chamber of Commerce, the governor will go to the First Methodist church and address the Los Angeles military escort and it will be quite some show for the edification of the natives who live far from Sacramento.

To Care for Overflow

It is stated that anyone wishing to hear the governor speak may attend the Chamber of Commerce meeting at 7:30 o'clock, after the dinner, and chairs will be arranged for them. Tables are being reserved in the Glen Inn downstairs for overflow diners, who arrive after 6:30 o'clock.

The governor has been here on several occasions and many have heard him speak before. He is very anxious to get before the people as there will be a primary election in August at which time Friend W. Richardson and, perhaps, Mayor James Rolph, Jr., will be his opponents on the party ticket.

Music Club Election Takes Place Friday

The annual business meeting and election of officers for the Glendale Music club will take place in the music room of the high school tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, with Mrs. Mattison B. Jones presiding. Active and affiliated members are eligible to attend the meeting. At that time the report of the nominating committee, which includes Mrs. Frank Arnold, Mrs. Eva Cunningham, Mrs. Warren Roberts Mrs. L. N. Hagood and Mrs. Charles A. Parker, will be given.

DES MOINES, May 18.—The possibility that William J. Bryan, holding credentials as a commissioner, is expected to arrive today. He has frequently been spoken of as a likely candidate for moderator. John Willis Baer, of California, is the only layman who ever has been elected moderator of the church. Others mentioned as probable candidates are: Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State university; Rev. W. R. Taylor, Rochester, N. Y.; Dr. C. C. Hayes, Johnstown, Pa.; Dr. John B. Laird, Philadelphia, and Dr. W. Beatty Jennings, Germantown, Pa., and Dr. Cleland McAfee, of the McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago. An effort is expected to be made to have the assembly repudiate the claim of the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America that it represents 30,000,000 protestants. Views of the federal council on labor and on international questions are said to be strongly opposed by many Presbyterians. The assembly will be in session until Friday, May 26.

OLD GUARD WORRIED OVER PENNSYLVANIA VOTE

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Stunned by the most smashing blow that has been dealt machine politics in Pennsylvania in years, the old line Penrose leaders of the Keystone state ruefully surveyed today the wreckage of their once powerful organization and the unpleasant prospect—for them—of Gifford Pinchot, former personal friend and ally of the late Theodore Roosevelt, sitting as the head of the state government with all of its perquisities of power and patronage at his command. In capturing the republican gubernatorial nomination, Pinchot is believed by some of the shrewdest lieutenants of the late Senator Boise Penrose, had become overnight, a formidable presidential possibility, and to have become an important factor in national politics whom the "old guard" republican leaders must consider henceforth. The republican state committee will meet in a few weeks to name a successor to Penrose as the republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania and it is generally conceded that Pinchot, whom some of the old Penrose leaders are already seeking to placate, will be in a position to greatly influence the choice of Pennsylvania's next representative in the national councils of the republican party.

LARGEST CARAVAN IN HISTORY FOR REALTY MEET

Ten Miles Long and Made Up of Many Hundreds of Cars, Estimate

The automobile caravan, which is to take eastern realtors from Los Angeles to the national convention at San Francisco, will be the biggest advertising stunt ever pulled off in California.

Attorney Hervey M. Porter of Los Angeles stated this fact yesterday noon in the banquet room of the Glen Inn, 154 South Brand boulevard, at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Realty board.

"This will be the largest caravan in the history of the world," declared Mr. Porter. "It will be ten miles long. Already 800 reservations have been received. This isn't a Los Angeles proposition: it isn't a San Diego proposition or a San Francisco proposition—it is a California proposition. It is up to all of us to make this caravan a success. At San Francisco will be held the greatest convention of realty men ever gathered together in the United States."

Route To Be Taken

Leaving Los Angeles Monday morning, May 29, the caravan will reach San Francisco May 30, the day before the opening of the convention. The trail will be over the state highway to Bakersfield. There the realty men will be entertained by an old-time Spanish barbecue luncheon. The Fresno Realty board will provide supper, hotel accommodations and breakfast for the "nomads." Luncheon will be served at Modesto.

After passing through Niles Canyon, the caravan will leave San Jose over the state highway to Palo Alto, the home of Stanford university. It will enter San Francisco over the Twin Peaks route overlooking Golden Gate Park and San Francisco Bay.

The purpose of the caravan is to give visiting realtors a glimpse of scenic California in order that they may take home with them a true vision of the Golden State.

L. A. Headquarters

The Ambassador hotel will be the Los Angeles headquarters of visiting realtors. The caravan will leave there shortly after 7 o'clock on the morning of May 29.

IN GREEN VERDUGO HILLS GREAT MEN WILL MEET

Festival and Picnic Sunday Will Be Featured by Speeches and Music

A mountain festival picnic is announced for the new Hillhaven amphitheatre in Tujunga vicinity for Sunday, May 21, under the auspices of the Higher Thought College. The list of speakers includes W. Frederick Keeler, John Stevens McGroarty, Prof. Edgar Lucien Larkin, Rev. Leon Greenbaum, Rev. E. Morgan Isaac, Edward B. Warman, Llewellyn George, James E. Dodds and Dr. Ameen U. Fareed, the latter of Verdugo Woodlands, Glendale.

Other numbers will be provided by a quartet, musicians and readers, while the Millionaire's Club of Contentment of the Green Verdugo Hills, by consent of the yellow cat, will be represented by many of its members, including "The Postmaster," "The Man Who Reads the Papers," "The Captain" and others. "The Man Who Plays the Flute" will offer several selections.

Special auto service on the Los Angeles-Glendale-Tujunga stage line will aid many in getting there. Everyone is invited to bring their own lunch and picnic at the park.

Tujunga Boasts Brains

While Los Angeles claims to be the most fertile county in the country, Tujunga claims to have more brains to the square mile than any other community. Whether this is true or not, a man from Boston would have a hard job keeping up with the Hill Tribe, it is boasted.

There are professors, picture players, authors, poets, musicians, physicians, metaphysicians, editors and "just folks" with college degrees, honors, etc., living happily in the Green Verdugo Hills who have no peace officer, no municipality—but a whole lot of civic spirit that goes a long ways. They have a Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' Association, Realty Board, schools, lodges, etc., but no Ku Klux Klan.

Sunday School Folk Hold Meeting Here

will talk on "Missionary Methods for Primary Children."

The junior section will be presided over by Mrs. C. W. Kinnear. "The Proper Environment in a Junior Department" will be the topic of Mrs. M. R. Poundstone; "The Value of Contests" will be discussed by Mrs. J. A. MacKenzie, and "Missionary Dramatics" will be the subject of Miss Gertrude Hutton.

The young people's division conference will consist of three ten-minute discussions by T. V. Ellzey, Holland F. Burr and Wellington G. Pierce. These will follow a demonstration of a modern young people's department and will be followed by a discussion of "The Expressional Period," led by Mrs. H. V. Mather of San Diego.

The adult division conference will be presided over by Roy L. Kent of 107 Arden avenue. "Efficiency with Numbers" will be discussed by W. L. Cleveland. Prof. W. I. T. Hoover will speak on "The Parent as a Teacher." W. A. Brown will talk on "Teaching Adults."

The administrative division conference will be presided over by George Hart. "Getting the Missionary Program Before the Sunday School" will be brought up by W. A. Brown; "The Church Program for Young Life in the Rural Community" will be commented upon by S. M. Cheek; while H. V. Mather will speak upon "The Worship Program and Special Days."

Officers To Be Chosen

"The Land Before Us—How May We Possess It?" will be the subject of an address at 11:45 by Dr. E. P. Ryland.

The afternoon session in part will consist of the following addresses: "The Place of the Child in Religious Education," Dr. M. A. Honline; "Your Money and What It Will Achieve," H. H. Godber; "The World Outlook in Christian Evangelism," W. A. Brown; "The Sunday School and Christian Citizenship," Rev. Frank Dell.

The 1922 international convention also will be discussed at this session, which will close with the convention question box. Officers for the association also will be elected.

Furbeck Art Studio To Continue Here

The Furbeck Art studio of 125 South Brand boulevard will continue in business, it is announced, as the sale of the lease for their building was not carried out. While this intended retirement on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Furbeck has depleted the large stock, they have gone in the market and bought many new lines, and today announce that they will continue in business. They hase been established in Glendale for seven years and their many patrons will be glad to know they will stay.

THE RECEIVING ANTENNA

In the case of the transmitting antenna the function is to create electro-magnetic and electro-static waves, which are radiated through space to one or more receiving stations. The electro-magnetic waves are due to the varying magnetic field surrounding the transmitting antenna, and the electro-static waves are due to the varying electric field in the condenser, formed by the antenna and grounding system. The two so combine to produce the spreading out effect and the up and down or wave motion.

It then becomes necessary at a receiving station to reverse the process. That is, the waves must induce a high frequency alternating current (or oscillations) in a conducting circuit at the receiving station. The receiving antenna provides the necessary circuit. It may be quite similar to the transmitting antenna. All that is usually required, however, is a single wire considerably elevated above the earth and connected to earth (or counterpoise ground) through the receiver. The wire should not be too long nor too short for the wave lengths it is desired to receive.

In order to have maximum current flowing in this antenna circuit it is necessary to tune it to the transmitting antenna. That is a condition of resonance between the two circuits must be secured. This is done by adjusting the frequency of the antenna circuit (or its wave length) and may be accomplished by variation of an inductance coil or the capacity of a series condenser. Or both a variable coil and a series condenser may be used simultaneously. Increasing the inductance of the antenna circuit decreases its frequency and increases its wave length. Decreasing the inductance does just the opposite, of course. In the case of a series condenser an increase of condenser capacity decreases the frequency and increases the wave length of the circuit, and vice versa. But it must be remembered that if one condenser is in series with another, the total capacity is not the arithmetical sum of the two, but a value smaller than the smallest capacity. The antenna and ground system have a certain capacity (due to condenser effect), and this capacity is in series with any condenser for lumped capacity) which may be put in series with antenna and ground. The total capacity of the circuit is thus decreased when a series condenser is employed for tuning purposes. This decrease of capacity and consequent decrease of wave length may be compensated for by adding inductance in the circuit. The principal value of a condenser is, therefore, to decrease the wave length of the antenna below that which would be had without any series inductance coil. The condenser is sometimes, therefore, called a "short wave condenser." It is usually made variable and may have an air dielectric.

A RADIO FREQUENCY TRANSFORMER WITH A NOVEL CORE

It is perhaps needless to point out the uses to which a radio frequency amplifying transformer may be put. In fact, most radio experimenters have long been searching for a transformer which would give them the results desired.

The transformer illustrated has some novel features, particularly with regard to the core. The core in this case is not laminated iron but iron filings. These filings or finely divided magnetic material completely enclose the windings and completely prevent eddy current losses. The effect procured is the broadening of the wave length range over which the transformer will function. The radio frequency iron circuit has high permeability for the low frequencies (longer waves) and lower permeability for the higher frequencies (shorter waves). The inductance value is, therefore, low on short waves and high on long waves.

Since the iron filings completely surround the windings on all sides and ends, stray magnetic fields are prevented. This reduces the undesirable feed-back action and allows more stages of amplification to be used.

There is an air gap in the iron circuit inside the bobbin. This gap in connection with the iron core and container which surrounds the bobbin, prevents the escape of any leakage flux to the external circuits. The capacity coupling effect between the windings is made negative by the reversal of the secondary leads. The magnetic coupling then nullifies the capacity coupling.

The top of the transformer is of condensite, and upon it are mounted the four binding posts, two each for primary and secondary. The posts are plainly marked so that proper connection of the transformer into the desired circuits may be quickly accomplished.

The operating wave length range is from 175 to 500 meters, with rather well-defined peaks in the neighborhood of 200 and 360 meters.

Questions on Radio and Their Answers

Question: Why cannot soft drawn copper wire be used for an aerial instead of hard drawn copper wire?—I. D., Eagle Rock.

Answer: Soft drawn copper wire may be used, but it has not the tensile strength that hard drawn copper wire has, and if subjected to any amount of strain is liable to stretch and break, consequently the hard drawn copper wire is generally recommended for the construction of an antenna.

Question: I am using a two-slide tuner and can receive nothing but telegraph signals? Why can't I receive the music?—H. M., Verdugo Woodlands.

Answer: If you receive the telegraph signals you should also be able to receive the broadcasts. Radio telephone transmitting stations generally tune quite sharp. Perhaps you have a poor crystal. Try out several pieces. That may be your trouble.

Question: Some say that the carrier wave cannot be heard, and others say that it can. Which is right?—M. C., Glendale.

Answer: The carrier wave itself cannot be heard because it has a frequency ranging as high as 1,500,000 cycles. The note that is heard in the receivers and often called the carrier wave, is a beat note which is caused by heterodyning the incoming radio frequency current. In other words, the detector tube is set into oscillation and generates a local frequency which is superimposed on the incoming frequency, and the difference between the two frequencies is what is heard.

Question: I notice that one of my amplifier tubes works better in the second stage than in the first. What causes this difference? Is it in the tubes?—V. P., Glendale.

Answer: Yes; vacuum tubes are somewhat like violins—there are very few alike; that is, they may have slightly different characteristics, and the only way for you to know your tubes is to change them around until best results are obtained.

Who's Looney Now? Future to Answer

By GEORGE VAN SANDS
Radio Editor The Evening News

There is considerable discussion going the rounds that radio is going to become the means of communicating with the dead, and I see that Lord Kitchener is now running a newspaper story and telling us all how lovely, modern and decidedly up-to-date everything is over in spiritland. If it's the truth, it looks like we are all simply wasting our time here on earth. Most of us are willing to believe almost anything about radio, but when it comes down to tuning-in on the dead with a wireless telephone, there are a whole lot of us that will simply have to "be shown."

Was listening-in to a broadcasting station a day or two ago, and it was announced that the next number would be a record by Caruso, and in a moment or so it came through the air, and there was Caruso's voice just as wonderfully clear as ever. It certainly is a marvelous thing how it can be done, but we are becoming so these days, that we sort of take these wonderful things as a matter of course, and nothing short of an earthquake causes more than a ripple of surprise.

Now, it isn't so many years ago that there was no such thing as a talking machine, to say nothing of wireless telephones, and if anyone had told us then that we would soon be hearing the voice of a famous singer after he was dead and buried, and hear it by radio, about the first thing we would have done would have been to have called an ambulance and had "Napoleon" taken away before he got violent. It's my honest opinion that the wildest dreams of the prize customer they have up in Patton on the possibilities of radio will eventually turn out to be mere conservative predictions when the full truth of radio is unfoided a few years hence.

The big thing that impresses the close student of radio is the fact that the deeper one goes into it, the more mysterious it becomes, and the less you really actually know about it, the more ready you are to believe absolutely anything of it. When anybody tells you that radio is simply a passing craze and will never be anything much more than a novel source of entertainment, just bear in mind that it was this same class of people who claimed Fulton's steam-boat would never work, that Bell was a fakir and that Ford was crazy.

RIVAL FORCES MAY CLASH

PEKING, May 18.—With the forces of Chang Tso-Lin massed on the banks of the Lwan river growing in number daily and Wu Pei Fu hurrying his troops northward through Tien Thin, prospects of a fresh clash between the rival war lords are increasing.

Wu Pei Fu continues his conference at Pao Ting Fu and observers here believe he will use caution in attacking Chang, as the Manchurian leader has chosen his position carefully. His right is protected by a chain of mountains while the sea protects him from attack on the left. The Lwan river along which his forces are entrenched can be crossed only by one large bridge, the destruction of which would prevent immediate pursuit.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Where Are Opportunities? Make America Safe for Men Need High Power Lawyers Expressions of Confidence

By Gil A. Cowan

THE largest class in the history of the University of California graduated yesterday. Some 1900 young people are sent forth on the sea of life in the world of adventure.

From other educational institutions in the United States at this season of the year thousands more are graduating. Which causes some concern as to where they shall go.

All over the earth is an easy answer, but to be more specific, "Where are the opportunities greatest?" Please, everybody, do not answer "Here."

The International News Service leased wire brings to The Glendale Evening News the following interesting information about the republic to the south:

"A great boom in the silver and copper mining industries in Mexico is expected immediately, it was learned here today.

"This expectation is based upon two developments:

"1—The rise in the price of silver.

"2—Exhaustion of the war time stocks of copper.

"Silver mines in the states of Durango, Guanajuato, Zacatecas and Hidalgo, which were paralyzed by price depression, are being prepared for resumption on a big scale now that it is possible to mine silver and copper at a profit."

While one cannot disassociate Mexico from civil war, banditry and bloodshed, a person in peaceful Glendale must reflect on the banditry now rife in this country, on the civil war being fought in Chicago and the bloodshed in Virginia and Kentucky.

Family feuds are most shameful things. To think that the Colsons and Balls cannot like in the same county in Kentucky at peace makes one wish there was a law which would exile them to the four corners of the earth.

There is altogether too much killing going on at the present time. Human life is held too cheaply. And it seems that in the final analysis it can be traced usually to the love for some foolish woman. The fires of hatred then linger for years with all of the pent up evil exhibiting itself every time an opportunity is afforded.

There would have been no Kennedy killing without a woman in the case. William D. Taylor likely would be alive today if it wasn't for some siren. The French police have a maxim that holds true in almost every murder, "Find the woman."

But after she is found the punishment should be nothing short of banishment. That might "settle the hash" of some of the flappers and make America safe for the men.

George Karr will be glad to hear this yarn from Parsons, Kan.:

"L. G. Beagle gives a receipt for one month's rental free whenever the stork arrives at the home of one of his tenants. For twins the tenant receives two months' rental—gratis.

"But it is the family which is blessed with triplets who are loudest in praising Beagle. They receive three months' free rental.

"Beagle owns eleven houses in Parsons. Throughout the war period he did not 'raise' the rent in a single instance, tenants declare."

The United States government has an official problem to be solved by patriotism. Attorney General Daugherty needs several $100,000 a year lawyers who are willing to accept $5000 or less for a year in order to clear the calendars of war claims against the government which will cost the country's treasury millions if they are not satisfactorily settled.

Billions of dollars are at stake and to stop the raids of profiteering corporations the ablest legal assistance is necessary. And Glendale hasn't a lawyer to spare, although several might like the $5000 jobs for $100 worth of service.

Did you ever stop to consider that by speaking a good word for The Glendale Evening News you make it better?

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, May 18.—Nine persons including eight men and one woman, employed as kiln drawers, were injured and a pottery kiln was blown to pieces in a gas explosion at the McNicol Corns Pottery company's plant in Wellsville, near here.

Bridge to Griffith Park Is Considered

The Los Angeles City Planning Commission has extended an invitation to Glendale to designate which street it wishes connected by bridge with Griffith park, it became known at a meeting of the city council last night.

And every member of the council has a different street in mind, it also became known. Discussion brought out that West Broadway property owners are willing to deed the required street to second direct connection with the park. Councilman S. A. Davis strongly urged the claims of Colorado street and Mayor Spencer Robinson pointed out that the San Fernando Road Improvement association looks with favor on Park avenue.

The council finally decided to ask the Planning Commission for a map of the improvements contemplated in this neighborhood, and also for suggestions as to which Glendale thoroughfare the Commission would like.

School May Festival Nets Sum of $324

The Cerritos School May Festival which was held on May 5 netted the Cerritos Avenue Parent-Teachers' association the sum of $324.31, according to a final report this morning from Mrs. Annie L. S. Curtis, principal of the school. This money is being spent for playground equipment. Mrs. Curtis stated that the members of the executive committee was very desirous of expressing their gratitude to all those who assisted in any way to make the affair a success.

Annual Eastern Star Ball on Friday Night

The annual Eastern Star ball to be given by Glen Eyrie chapter, of which Mrs. Fannie M. Parke is worthy matron, will be held tomorrow night, Friday, at Masonic Temple. Mrs. W. S. Rattray is chairman in charge of arrangements. On account of the large membership of the local chapter admission will be limited to members of Glen Eyrie chapter and their escorts. Each couple will also be allowed to bring one outside couple as their guests.

Dinner and Informal Social on Saturday

A dinner and informal social night is being planned for Saturday at Masonic Temple for members of Glendale Commandery No. 53, Knights Templar, of which George U. Moyse is eminent commander, and for their ladies. Dinner is to be served at 6:30 o'clock. Francis J. W. Henry has charge of reservations and also of the short musical program which will precede dancing, which will continue until about 10 o'clock.

Harry M. Miller Is Back From Valley

Harry M. Miller of 114 East Broadway returned to his office this morning after accompanying parties to Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties over the week-nd on an inspection of valuable ranch property and vineyards. They found the vines literally loaded with grapes this year on account of the recent rains and the summer's sun was beating down 100 degrees in the shade with no shade However, that is only a starter, for the thermometer hangs around 120 in the good old summer time, according to Mr. Miller.

Mrs. Virginia Freeman Sings at Ambassador

One of the participants in the program of the Reciprocity club of Los Angeles at its annual luncheon given at the Ambassador hotel yesterday, was Mrs. Virginia Freeman, whose wonderful voice was heard in three songs, "The Nightingale," by Ward Stevens, "Spring" by Oscar Weil, and "The Birth of Morn" by Leoni. She was accompanied by Mrs. Roberta T. Young, also of Glendale.

Know How to Swim? Who Wants This Job?

Who wants a job supervising bathing beauties—and others—at Glendale's municipal plunge?

The position pays a salary!

And affords one the opportunity to get wet.

The city council last night announced that it would be pleased to receive applications for supervisor of the municipal plunge soon to be opened. Councilman A. H. Lapham is the "father" of the tank.

Of course, the supervisor must be able to swim and he must be able, too, to handle youngsters when they become a little more enthusiastic than is considered good form.

Firecracker Measure Receives Tie Vote

The ordinance prohibiting the shooting of firecrackers in Glendale is still before the city council, for it failed of passage last night when Councilmen S. A. Davis and Dwight W. Stephenson voted against it and Councilman A. H. Lapham and Mayor Spencer Robinson voted in its favor. It will come up again when Councilman C. E. Kimlin is present.

"We voted to muzzle the dogs so that children could not get rabies, so let's abolish firecrackers so that children will not get lockjaw," urged the mayor, who declares he is not in sympathy with the muzzling ordinance.

Financial Donation Favored by Council

Instead of spending the money in installing decorations, the city council last night voted to make a financial donation to the Women's Christian Temperance Union, which holds a convention here the last of the month.

"Give them the money to continue the war against rum," urged Mayor Spencer Robinson. "They will appreciate that more than a lot of bunting stuck about."

Incidentally, Mayor Robinson is scheduled to sing before the convention and also make a speech.

Many New Teachers Required Next Term

How many new teachers will the grammar school system need next year? This is the problem facing Richardson D. White today. He estimates that the number will range between fifteen and twenty. The new intermediate, the Grand View and the additions to the Acacia and Columbus schools are scheduled to be ready for occupation by September. The school system now employs ninety-four teachers. The school population is over 3000.

Intermediate Girls Cook, Serve Dinner

A five course dinner will be served tonight in the domestic science room of the Intermediate school by girls of the advanced cooking class under the direction of their teacher, Miss Lulu Woolridge. Invited guests will be Miss Carrie Noble, principal, and Norman Whytock, vice principal, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson D. White and members of the grammar school board of education.

Spencer Robinson at Santa Monica Hears?

What are the sad sea waves saying?

It all depends. For instance—

Mayor Spencer Robinson went to Santa Monica the other day, he stated at the city council meeting last night. While there he heard what he thought was the ocean.

But investigation developed that what the mayor heard was a bowling alley in operation. The waves, therefore, were not saying anything. The bowling alley business was booming, not the waves.

PREVIEW FEATURE HERE

Louis Burston's new feature picture, "Forget Me Not," will have a preview in conjunction with the regular film bill at the Glendale theatre Friday night. Gareth Hughes and Bessie Love play the leading parts.

WOOD ASKS MORE TIME

WASHINGTON, May 18. — Major General Leonard Wood, governor-general of the Philippine islands, has informed the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania, through Secretary of War Weeks that his work in the Philippines is not completed and asked that his leave be extended to January 1. The university had demanded that Wood return to his position as provost by August 1.

GET BIG SUM IN CASH

CINCINNATI, May 18.—Six expert cracksmen early on Monday entered the department store of the H. & S. Pogue company, one of the largest stores in Cincinnati, bound and gagged two aged watchmen, blew two burglar-proof safes and escaped with $25,000 in cash.

Shopping with the Bride

The Junetime bride comes into her own. It is wedding time and orange blossom time. So that her task may be easy—her pre-nuptial work reduced to the minimum—we are taking her on a tour of the leading stores of the city with the ease and comfort of a pleasurable shopping trip. Here she will be offered many practical, appropriate and valuable suggestions. Everything has been chosen with that enduring charm of distinction.

After the happy honeymoon
Which ended all too soon,
She moved to a cozy little bungalow
Which was sold, to her sorrow,

And where we can look at plans by the score,
Build a house and move never more."

SPORTS CHATTER
By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

While the tennis eyes of the country at present are focused on Berkeley, Calif., where Tilden, Richards, Johnston and other luminaries of the court sport are pastiming, the Central California championships at Sacramento May 27 to 30 will be the next tournament to attract attention.

Tilden and Richards will not be competitors at Sacramento, but such stars as Bill Johnston, Peck Griffin, Roland Roberts, John Strachan, Willie Davis among the men, and national girls' champion Helen Wills and coast champion Helen Baker are names of entrants which lend themselves to the fact that the Central California series will be one of the best in the country.

The Central California is an established event and dates back to 1906 when it was held at Stockton and won by Charlie Foley, who has since become one of the leading men among the golf champions of the coast. During the years of competition all the coast tennis stars who have since become nationally and internationally famous have been competitors and winners in the various events. Notable among these are Morry McLoughlin, Peck Griffin, Bill Johnston, Carl Gardner, John Strachan among the men and Hazel Hotchkiss, now Mrs. Wightman, several times women's national champion, Mrs. H. A. Niemeyer, Helen Baker and Helen Wills.

The entry list this year, according to Joe Brunschwiler of the Sutter Lawn Tennis club will be the largest in the history of the event. The influx of entrants from many Central California towns which up to this year never participated in tennis tourneys is the cause and only goes to show the wide spread tennis is making and the general interest in the sport.

The record of the Central California series is particularly interesting and is as follows:

1906 — Played at Stockton, men's singles, Charley Foley; doubles, Foley and Carl Gardner.

1912 — Played at Stockton, singles, Morry McLoughlin; doubles, W. M. Johnston and Carl Gardner; women's singles, Hazel Hotchkiss.

1913—Played at Sacramento, singles, W. M. Johnston; doubles, J. Strachan and "Peck" Griffin; women's singles, Mrs. H. A. Niemeyer.

1914—Played at Sacramento, singles, W. M. Johnston; men's doubles, W. M. Johnston and "Peck" Griffin; women's singles, Mrs. H. D. Wood.

1920—Played at Sacramento, singles, "Peck" Griffin; men's doubles, R. Roberts and Willis Davis; women's singles, Helen Baker; women's doubles, Helen Baker and Mrs. Reams Leachman.

1921—Played at Sacramento, singles, Roland Roberts; doubles Robert and Howard Kinsey; women's singles, Helen Baker; women's doubles, Helen Baker and Helen Wills.

Tagging All Bases

George Murray, recruit pitcher of the Yanks, relieved Shawkey in the second inning with the Indians leading 4 to 0, shut the Tribe absolutely out the rest of the way and added to the general hilarity by smashing a home run into the bleachers with two on in the second. He also hit a triple, and confined the Indian attack to three hits. Thus encouraged, the Yanks won.

Tillie Walker's homer in the thirteenth gave Heimach, of the Athletics, the decision over Urban Faber of the White Sox, in a pitchers' duel. Faber fanned thirteen Mackmen.

The Phillies were as helpless as a victim of the straitjacket against Pete Donahue, and the Reds won a close game, 1 to 0. Only three hits were made against Pete, "Long Cy" Williams getting two of them.

Jack Dempsey Due in Port Tomorrow

NEW YORK, May 18. — Jack Dempsey and retinue are coming in on the Aquitania tomorrow afternoon, and just to make business look business-like, the eminent Mr. Rickard and Frank Flourney will be at the dock to meet them, with sheafs of official looking papers protruding from every pocket.

The promoters will be present, ostensibly, to sign Dempsey then and there to articles of agreement, calling for him to meet Harry Wills in Montreal July 1, and Jess Willard in Jersey City on Labor Day. In reality, they could sit in comfort in their Madison Square garden offices and wait until Dempsey and Jack Kearns pay them a friendly call.

The parties in question know very well when and where Dempsey is to fight next, and they have a pretty fair idea of his projected opponent's identity.

If you care to accept our opinion of the matter, he will meet Harry Wills somewhere on Labor Day. Willard, an old man who has been out of the ring for three years, is neither a logical nor sensible opponent, and the proposed July date with Wills is entirely too close at hand to permit of the building up the occasion demands and warrants.

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The newspapers continue to print stories carrying a doubt as to whether or not France will handle the next Olympic games. It is high time a decision was arrived at by the Frenchmen as to their intentions. The Olympic games, world embracing as they are, require a lot of time in the preparation, and, unless the various committees are enabled to get started mighty soon, we are going to see something in the nature of a "flivver" in 1924. Only two years remain of the four between games, and all of this, and more, is needed to dispose of the million and one details.

The reported "nervous breakdown" of Pat Tidmarsh, bow oar of the University of Washington crew, and the information given out to the effect that he might not be able to take his seat in theboat when it goes into the Poughkeepsie race, is being taken by many oarsmen with a grain of salt. No one seems to know just how serious the ailment is, or the reasons that brought it about. No doubt his absence would lessen the chances of the Washingtonians winning. It not only would deprive the crew of his services but it would require several shifts in the present positions of the crew which always means more or less disturbance in a smooth working machine.

California, represened by the University of California and Stanford university, will have twenty-five men in the National Intercollegiate championships — fifteen from the former institution, and ten from the latter. Combined, this would make as formidable an aggregation as well could be sent east, but as two institutions and the points naturally divided, it looks as if the University of California will have its hands full holding on to the cup they won last year. It will be interesting to note, however, what points the combined athletes will take away from the eastern athletes.

It may be that Kirksey, the best of the hundred yard men of the coast, barring Paddock, will not be able to run for Stanford in the L. C. A. A. A. A. Kirksey fell down in the recent dual meet against California owing to a pulled muscle, and the chances are that he is out of the sprints for the best of this year, if not for all time. There are many who believe that the boy is out for good.

Four Native Sons of Good Old California

Johnny Rawlings, utility infielder; Bill Cunningham, outfielder; Emil "Irish" Meusel, outfielder, and Long George Kelly, first baseman, are expected to go a long way toward aiding the world's champion Giants in acquiring their second consecutive pennant.

The Short Cruicible
By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—The afternoon of May 20 at the Polo Grounds promises to be a very ponderous occasion, indeed, with cash customers as numerous as flies in a restaurant kitchen.

First off, it is the day when the eminent B. Ruth is released from the official displeasure of Judge Landis. Official attendance figures at the Polo Grounds to date have been a right fair indication of Ruth's popularity.

But if the event needs any further recommendation, consider the freak of schedule-jugglery which brings the St. Louis Browns to New York on the day of Ruth's return. The Browns are not only one of the leading pennant contenders but they happen to have right and title to Kenneth Williams, and Ken is the young man who has been Ruthing them over the fences ever since the season started.

Ruth versus Williams. The king meeting what may be the heir apparent in a man to man duel. That ought to pack them in.

In fact, the reserved sections at the Polo Grounds are sold out in advance, this being not only a testimonial to Ruth as Ruth, but recognition of the fact that Williams, as a slugger, is no temporary institution. He is coming to his best just as was Ruth the first year he broke the record, and the time may not be far distant when comparisons will be taken for granted.

Of course, Williams does not hit the ball as hard as Ruth does, or did, and possibly never will. For one thing, he hasn't the physique. For another, he probably lacks the Babe's co-ordination of eye and muscle. For a third, the ball has been made less lively, and perforce the pitching is becoming better.

Yet Williams, staked to a five weeks' start, might very easily head off Ruth for the home run honors this year and, hitting them as he has been, would possibly top the Babe even up.

Even if he seriously challenged Ruth's supremacy it would be a great thing for baseball attendances. They would want to compare the two stars in action, and we can think of no types more dissimilar in style and appearance.

Everyone is familiar with Ruth's man-in-the-moon countenance, his barrel of a chest and pipestem legs. He and Williams have about as much in common there as Mrs. Asquith and Eva Tanguay.

The St. Louis outfielder is a lean, sun-bitten individual of dour, lugubrious expression and few words, at least as far as the ballfield is concerned. He would make an excellent undertaker.

Glendale Nine Plays L. A. Tigers Sunday

The Glendale nine, a recently organized, independent, semi-pro baseball club, will play the Los Angeles Tigers at Park avenue and San Fernando Road Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to Manager Cobb. Jack Kerns will pitch while King will catch. In their last Sunday's initial game with the Los Angeles All Stars, Glendale went down to defeat.

C. W. Hilton Tells Of Iowa Long Ago

"An intoxicated man was a curiosity back in Polk county, Iowa, when whiskey sold for 50 cents a gallon during the year 1885 when I was a resident of that community," said C. W. Hilton, who resides at 457 West Milford street, and who was a resident of Iowa before coming to Glendale.

"In those days the democrats of the state of Iowa enacted a law that provided that no man shall be allowed to purchase less than a half pint of whiskey, and it wasn't long before the saloons became a thing of history. During the year 1885 every saloon in Iowa went out of business except one, and it was situated at Keokuk. Its sole reason for existence was that it was in a river town where hundreds of strangers came on the various packets and would go ashore to imbibe. It did a large business, but seldom was patronized by natives.

"In 1886 the people of Iowa elected a republican administration and it wasn't long before the old law was repealed and saloons again began to take their places in the business sections of the various towns and cities. Then the intoxicated man no more was a curiosity. I can look back with pleasure on those days when men lived much without legislation—but I doubt that it ever will be that way again," sighed the former Iowan as he resumed his task of cutting out a large acacia tree that was uprooting the sidewalk.

Mathew Becker Says Glendale Beats All

"No matter how hard it rains in Glendale, I maintain it is the one delightful place to reside," was the comment of Mathew Becker, formerly of Winneconne county, Wis., who recently opened the Casa Verdugo pharmacy with F. E. Rilling as a partner.

"The overworked use of the adjective 'unusual' has had its day and, even if it was fair to call the weather of the late winter and early spring 'unusual,' I want to say that it was of greater delight to live through it in Glendale than the weather in the same period in Wisconsin.

"I lived 100 miles north of Milwaukee and it became very cold during the winter season. The comparison is so greatly in favor of Glendale that I doubt the sincerity of those people who come here from 'back east' when they grow into the habit of calling a good rainstorm 'unusual' weather."

Film Star May Be Arrested If Found

LOS ANGELES, May 18.—Mrs. Rudolph Valentino, nee Winifred Hudnut, and known in the theatrical world as Natacha Rambova, is today speeding toward New York City, having taken a train at Pomona, it is reported, while authorities were endeavoring to straighten out the tangled legal status of her marriage to the young film star last Saturday at Mexicali, Mex.

Though Valentino is reported to be back in Los Angeles, the district attorney's office, making a search for him, has been unable to locate him. Deputy District Attorney James Costello stated today that he would inform District Attorney Woolwine that Valentino is subject to arrest if he is in California. The action under which Valentino is liable is bigamy, for having married Miss Hudnut before receiving a final decree of divorce from his former wife, Jean Acker.

Another Langley in T. D. L. Circuit Now

Evidently there is to be a new general manager for the T. D. & L. theatres in Southern California. A bouncing baby boy arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to keep Mr. and Mrs. Claude Langley entertained. It is to be expected that children will find great favor in his theatres hereafter, this being their first-born. Mother and son are doing nicely.

LARGEST CARAVAN IN HISTORY FOR REALTY MEET

It will pass along San Fernando Road to the ridge route. Arrangements have been made for repair cars to be in constant attendance.

Moving pictures are to be taken of the caravan en route. The film is to be exhibited all over the United States about a week later.

Glendale will be represented in the caravan by sixteen or eighteen members of the real estate profession. Announcement has been made that merchants or residents who wish to join the procession may do so.

As an expression of appreciation for his work as secretary of the local organization, E. P. Hayward of Hayward & McCartney, 142 South Brand boulevard, was donated $100 by the Glendale Realty board to defray some of his expenses at the convention.

To Advertise Glendale

The issuance of a suitable booklet to make known the virtues of this community was the subject of an extended discussion. C. B. Guthrie started action when he pledged $25 to the expense. Mr. Hayward immediately contributed the $100 voted to him; Mayor Spencer Robinson promised $100 from the municipal coffers and C. D. Thom of 131 South Brand boulevard, president of the board, also donated $25. James W. Pearson, 108 North Brand boulevard, and Dr. Jessie Russell, 208 South Brand boulevard, also participated in the discussion.

Besides those mentioned already the following were present: L. H. Wilson, 1024 South San Fernando Road; E. P. Hennes, 719 South Brand boulevard; Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, 612 East Broadway; H. E. McCartney, 142 South Brand boulevard; Mrs. Elsa McClellan, 1601 South Brand boulevard; Roy D. King, 106 East California avenue; Mrs. Edith May Osborne, 210 West Doran street; A. L. Baird, 130 South Brand boulevard; Wallace W. Plumb, 229 North Brand boulevard; O. F. Kroehle, 205 East Broadway; Peter Henson, 122 West Broadway; W. L. Truitt, 612 South Brand boulevard; F. W. Harper, 102 East Broadway; Fred Heal, 105 North Glendale avenue; William McMullen, 124 West Broadway; W. F. McPherson, 139 North Brand boulevard; Mrs Mary A. Lindsey, 1017 East Palmer street, and William E. Sawyer, 116 West Wilson avenue.

Police Captain Proud Of Bush of Moses

Captain of Police Tom McGuire and the Bush of Moses are a combination you will find at the officer's pretty home at 407 West Lexington Drive. Almost any morning you will find the guardian of the peace and the bush doing stunts in the rear yard.

"The Bush of Moses is one of the best home garden border plants I know of," said the officer. Its seed must be planted yearly. It grows quickly, looks pretty and resembles the smaller ferns, only it is a very light green. The plant grows wild in Mexico, but I am told that it is a native of the Holy Land. How it became a member of the wild flower family in Mexico I have never learned, but down there they have renamed it and call it the Mexican Fire-bush.

"I can't eat it, but I get nearly as much good out of it looking at it as I do eating the potatoes, tomatoes, kale and other vegetables that are growing there," laughed the officer as he pointed with pride to his "back-yard farm."

SLAIN FOR 'SQUAWKING'

PEORIA, Ill., May 18.—William (Bill) Quirk, alleged leader of an automobile stealing ring, has made good his threat to kill one of his former pals if he ever "squawked," Quirk was hid in the shrubbery near the home of Charles F. Neil, one of his gang, and shot him as he was coming down the steps. Quirk was rearrested. He had been out on bail, having been arrested on the charge of wholesale automobile thievery.

Neil had confessed to the police that he had been a member of Quirk's gang. He told the police that Quirk had warned him he would "get" him for "squealing."

Perhaps Ostrich Will Be Result Of This Setting

GLENDALE has some very extraordinary cats and chickens, it would seem from the constant stream of stories about their activities.

The latest along this line comes from O. C. Loomis, who conducts a poultry ranch at 441 Palm Drive. Rather it came from a customer who had occasion to buy a dozen White Leghorn eggs for a setting hen.

One of these eggs was 8¼ inches the long way round and 7 inches the shortest way. Undoubtedly it will furnish its new "mother" some moody contemplation.

She has a right to wonder whether it will hatch twins, triplets or worse.

Chaplin's 'Pay Day' Last Times Today at T. D. L. Theatre

The face, the walk and the antics may be the same; but the laughs are different and the story is new in "Pay Day," Charles Chaplin's latest release, which is showing at the T. D. & L. theatre. Such, at least, is the contention of the comedian himself, who asserts that he has never given so much thought and time to putting humor into anything as in this lafest picture, a short comedy which is fast equalling in popularity the record attained by some of the star's longer releases. He has been almost eight months in completing the picture, which is a record for a short comedy.

"The Bonnie Brier Bush," a Paramount picturization of Ian MacLaren's famous novel, "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush," and one of the most appealing stories ever filmed, caught on in fine shape at the T. D. & L. theatre last night. Donald Crisp, the producer, appeared in a strong role while the leading characters were portrayed by Mary Glynne, Alec Fraser, Jerrold Robertshaw and Mrs. Hayden-Coffin. The picture is quite worth while and the views of Scotland shown therein are most artistic.

Party for Painters Next Friday Night

All painters and commercial decorators of Glendale are invited by William Hunter of the Glendale Paint & Paper company to learn the latest innovations in their crafts by attending a party to be held at his store Friday night, May 19, at 7:30 o'clock.

Factory experts and members of the executive staff of the Tibbetts-Oldfield Paint company of Los Angeles will be present and give a course of instruction in handling and mixing paints economically. It is stated that the painters may in this way keep up with modern methods and gain much practical information from association with the producers of products they use.

Refreshments will be served and every painter in town is expected to be present as this evening of education is free to them.

Mme. Romanowska in Automobile Accident

The noted Polish prima donna, soprano and vocal teacher, Mme. Felicia Romanowska of 450 West Windsor Road, her husband, and Dr. K. O. A. Markiewicz, of Los Angeles, met with an automobile accident late yesterday afternoon which might have proved disastrous to the occupants of the machine had it not been for the prompt work of the doctor in bringing the car to a quick stop. The doctor was driving the machine on Central avenue, northbound, and as he turned west on Windsor road, the steering wheel broke, and the car headed straight for the curb, striking heavily against the high curb. The machine was damaged considerably, but the occupants escaped without a scratch.

ON RUSSIA SITUATION

WASHINGTON, May 18. — The Harding administration shortly will make some proposals on its account dealing with the involved Russian situation, according to information obtained today. The nature of the administration move is a carefully guarded secret, but it is held to account for the instant turndown given the allied invitation to participate in the June 15 meeting at The Hague.

Painters! Attention!

All commercial decorators are invited to visit our store Friday evening, May 19, and

'Ten Nights' Closes Big Run Today at Glendale Theatre

In the screen version of "Ten Nights in a Barroom," shown at the Glendale Theatre for the last times today, there is a scene that makes the most blase movie fan "sit up and take notice," to use the vernacular. Even the hardened cynic who brands everything in motion pictures as "fake" or "trick stuff" is forced to admit that the scene where Joe Morgan, played by John Lowell, who is appearing in person with the picture this week, chases Simon Slade out on the logs in the river and there battles with him until the breaking of the jam far below them forces both men to fight for their lives in the raging current which threatens to sweep them both to death in the rapids, looks real. It is real and Lowell says never again for him. The script called for it and the director and camera man said it could be done and it was done, but it brought them all too close to death to make any of them care to repeat the experience.

Reading Circle Hears Immigration Problems

"The Stranger Within Our Gates," dealing with immigration problems, was the topic of an article from a current magazine reviewed at the meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle at the public library on Harvard street yesterday by Mrs. C. L. Viereck. This article dealt with the hardships which the author stated had been wrought by the new immigration law recently enacted, and cited instances where it was stated much needless suffering was caused through various phases of its operation. In the afternoon "The Religious Nature of a Little Child," by Frederick W. Langford, was read by Mrs. H. V. Henry, and was followed by discussion. The article for next week will be on "Building Personalities."

Mrs. H. V. Henry announced that Miss Chambers, supervisor of drawing in the local schools, had submitted a splendid poster which had been sent as a display from the Reading Circle to the exhibit held in connection with the state convention of P.-T. A. to be held in San Diego next week. Announcements was made of the parliamentary law class being organized for the benefit of new association officers. The class will hold its first meeting Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the juvenile room of the library, under the direction of Mrs. P. S. McNutt, and will continue every Friday until school closes.

Council Halts Vote On Signs Ordinance

The ordinance regulating signs and other advertising matter on sidewalks was not passed by the city council last night, it being held over, it was explained, so that the business interests might have full opportunity to be heard, if desired. The ordinance would remove all advertising signs from sidewalks and also prevent any display from extending more than twelve inches from the property line of a building.

"The real estate men have a hard time getting along since the Pacific Electric boosted the fares and now we propose to make it harder yet for them by legislating their sidewalk signs," commented Mayor Spencer Robinson.

"Glendale will not look like a real city until the signs are removed," declared Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson. "We are no longer a village."

With Councilman C. E. Kimlin away, it looked like a tie vote on the measure and balloting did not result.

Meanwhile, the city officials say that if any are interested in the ordinance that now is the time to act, not after it has been finally passed.

Business Agents of Schools Will Meet

Glendale will be represented tomorrow noon in the Los Angeles City club at the meeting of the newly formed organization of business agents from nearby school districts by Richardson D. White, superintendent of the local grammar school system.

"The purpose of this association is to promote greater efficiency in the financial affairs of the public schools," remarked E. E. Harwood of Eagle Rock recently, "to standardize accounts and accounting methods and in every possible way to make for better management of the business side of school administration."

The meeting tomorrow will discuss the purchase of supplies for next year and each member present is expected to submit a list of supplies to be needed by his own school district.

JAPANESE BACK PLAN?

TOKIO, May 18.—Millions of handbills bearing propaganda seeking public sympathy for Chang Tso-Lin, defeated Chinese war lord, who has issued a declaration of the independence of Manchuria, were distributed in Tokio and Yokohama. An organization of Chang's supporters has been formed and it is believed Japanese business interests in Manchuria are behind the organization.

gave the membership as being 535. An amendment to the constitution, changing the departmentment of home economics to the department of thrift, was adopted.

Mrs. A. H. Brown gave the report of the nominating committee, and on motion the secretary was instructed to cast a ballot for the officers named above.

Mrs. John Robert White announced the state convention of the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations to be held at San Diego May 23, 24, 25 and 26.

Announcement was also made of the Glendale federation picnic to be held in Verdugo Woodlands June 12, at which time all of the federation and association officers will be installed.

Program Is Given

Following the business session those present were invited to the high school auditorium, where Miss Virginia Huntley, president of the Girls' League, welcomed them and introduced the girls who contributed the following numbers, all of which were greatly enjoyed and appreciated.

Songs by the Girls' Glee club, "The 'Melican Man" and "The Rosary." Readings from Carl Sandborg, including four preludes on "Playthings of the Wind," by Doris Packer.

Vocal selections by Julia Robinson, accompanied at the piano by Marjorie Yarick, "Ship o' Dreams" and "Little Blossoming Thoughts of You."

Piano solo, "Falling Waters," by Mary Sherrick.

Each mother present was given a miniature old fashioned bouquet. The meeting then adjourned to the lawn where the Girls' League members were hostesses at an afternoon tea.

Ornamental Flower Boxes Given to City

Have you noticed the new square white concrete ornamental flower boxes on either side of the entrance to the city hall? They were donated by Richard P. Krick of 1311 South Glendale avenue, who is manufacturing them. City Manager W. H. Reeves thinks that they add greatly to the appearance of the city hall and hopes to be able to buy several more for the balcony. He calls attention to the fact that metal reinforcement makes them practically indestructible.
